Midwinter Season Opens Next Week.

NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN.

THE return of the President and Mrs. Wilson and the Misses Wilson on January 12, the date set for their arrival here, will mark the commencement of the formal midwinter season, and official entertaining, interrupted by the departure of the Chief Executive, will be resumed.

While the change of program for the State receptions has already been announced from the White House, no invitations to the diplomatic reception on January 13 have yet been issued, and hostesses, anxious to know whether they will be included at that function, have been marking time before getting up dinners or arranging supper parties at hotels to follow the reception.

The Vice President and Mrs. Thomas Marshall, who spent Christmas and New Year's at their old home in Indianapolis, Ind., are expected to reach here tonight or tomorrow. They have sent out invitations to a series of dances which they will give at the Shoreham on the evenings of January 19, and 26, and February 9 and 10, and these entertainments promise to be among the most delightful of the winter.

Dancing has become such a craze since the introduction of the tango and the one-step that guests "just can't make their feet behave" when orchestras play at receptions, and no matter how crowded the rooms a space is invariably cleared, the rugs rolled back, and informal dancing takes the place of social small talk.

The innovation is much encouraged by hostesses, for it makes a tea far gayer and also increases the attendance of men. Those of the sterner sex who heretofore scorned "pink teas" are now assiduously hunting invitations to afternoon receptions.

This same dancing made its appearance at the receptions held on New Year's Day, and many a masculine caller was tempted to linger at Mrs. Garrison's and Mrs. Daniel's and tango with the pretty assistants, forgetful of duty calls elsewhere.

The naval officers found their swords and epaulets did not interfere with their graceful dancing, but the army officers discovered that their spurs were a decided handicap in taking the intricate steps of the tango, and a number of gowns with trains suffered in transit.

Dancing in the afternoon has also worked a change in the costumes worn by the hostess and her receiving party. Until recently it has been the fashion to wear heavy silks and velvet and hats when presiding at tea tables and assisting in welcoming guests, but the old order has changed, and now gowns of gossamer texture, cut decollete, are worn. In fact, there is no distinction between the afternoon reception gown and the ball gown, and the hair is coiffed as for the evening. The callers content themselves with wearing street costumes, the skirts being of ankle length, which permits graceful dancing, and small hats which do not imperil their partner's eyesight.

The big event of this week is the Charity Ball tomorrow evening at the New Willard Hotel. It is given annually for the benefit of the Children's Hospital, and promises to be even more successful than formerly. Eleven boxes have been sold, more than ever before.

For the first time in many years a Chief Executive and his wife are not listed among those who will occupy a box. President Taft and President Roosevelt always added to the interest centering about the ball by making it a point to attend.

President Wilson indicated his disapproval of balls when he declined the inaugural ball, and it is likely that his views in the matter have influenced members of this administration not to subscribe to boxes, although it is probable that several of his "official family" will be guests of some of the boxholders.

The complete list of boxholders are the Russian Ambassador and Mme. Bakmeteff, the Brazilian Ambassador and Mme. da Gama, Mrs. Marshall Field, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stotesbury, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beale McLean, Col. and Mrs. Robert M. Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Preston Satterwhite, of New York; Mrs. Delos A. Blodgett, Mrs. Lloyd Bowers, and Miss Calhoun, of New York.

Mrs. Bowers, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the ball, and to whose untiring efforts much of the success of the entertainment belongs, will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Frederick McGuire, Mrs. Charles C. Glover, Mrs. Horace Westcott, Mrs. Clarence Wilson, and Mrs. Reynolds Hill.

A seated supper will be served at midnight. The Marine Band and the Engineer Band have been engaged to play throughout the evening, so that dancing will be continuous. A number of dinner parties will precede the ball, the guests going to it later.

Two charming additions to the younger set are Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Miss Marie Peary, daughter of Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, the famous explorer and discoverer of the north pole. They made their debut last week at two notable receptions, and plans are being made for many entertainments in their honor. They both have most interesting personalities as well as winning manners, two characteristics not often found together.

The social side of New Year's Day passed into history, leaving many lamenting the White House reception, an event to which thousands, from the personal representatives of sovereigns of other nations to the humblest citizens of the National Capital, looked forward.

The diplomatic decision not to wear court dress when attending the annual breakfast given in honor of the corps by the Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan also established another precedent.

Another innovation was the appearance of women callers at the Cabinet homes; heretofore men have considered New Year's Day as set aside for them exclusively.

Among the entertainments planned for this week is a dance which Mrs. Marshall Field will give at her home in the Avenue of the Presidents on Wednesday night; and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beale McLean will be hosts at a dance on Thursday evening for Miss Marie Peary. Numerous dinners are also scheduled for every night this week.

The German Ambassador and Countess von Bernstorff were hosts at a dinner last night at the embassy in Massachusetts avenue. Their guests included the Secretary of War and Mrs. Lindley M. Garrison, the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Lane, the Argentine Minister and Mme. Naon, the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Hamilton, the former American Ambassador to Germany and Mrs. David Jayne Hill, Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, Mr. and Mrs. William Barrett Ridgely, and Capt. Boyd, of the German Embassy.

Mme. Peset, wife of the Minister of Peru, will be at home this afternoon and the following Sundays in January and February at the legation in R street. Mr. A. Washington Peset's clever play, "Marrying Money," which was produced with such complete success in Syracuse, N. Y., during Christmas week, will be seen here at one of the local theaters the week commencing January 12.

Mrs. Peset, besides being a playwright of recognized talent, is attaché of the Peruvian Legation, and is extremely popular in Washington society.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. William G. McAdoo, who spent last week visiting Capt. Isaac Emerson at his hunting lodge near Georgetown, S. C., leaves today for Washington.

The Congressional Club has issued invitations to a reception in honor of the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall on the her many distinguished guests by Mrs. J. William Henry, Mrs. E. F. Andrews, Mrs. Stevens Vail, Mrs. Francis Chisholm, Mrs. Paul Patterson, of Baltimore; Miss Gertrude Greely, Miss Eleanor Reyrum, Miss Doris Hayward, Mr. Joseph Thropp, and Mrs. Scott Thropp.

Miss Laura Mohr and Miss Nannie Randolph both presided at the tea table. Among the guests were the Turkish Ambassador, Senator and Mrs. Claude Swanson, Senator and Mrs. Shields, the Minister of Peru and Mme. Peset, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Downing, the Misses Downing, Miss Helen Parker, Mr. and Mrs. John Blair, Marquis de Lanza di Brolo, Dr. and Mrs. Anthony Lanza, Mrs. S. S. Lincoln, Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Tucker, Miss Margaret Wade, Mrs. James Mosher, Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Gould Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. George Harvey, Miss Heap, Miss Cora Barry, Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Evans Cameron, Miss Rebekah Williams, Miss Eunice Pincham, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fitch Shepard, Miss Alice Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Micou, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins, Mrs. William Hayward, Miss Dorsey, Mrs. Adelaide Worth Bagley, the Misses Bagley, Capt. and Mrs. Walter McLean, Grace Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Magruder, Mr. William Hays Ackland, Mrs. Ben Long Edes, Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Talmann, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, Miss Temple, Miss Mary Quincy, of New York; Mrs. Adolphus Greely, Mrs. Brinton Stone, Mr. Charles Henry Stone, Miss Adelaide Heath.

The Speaker and Mrs. Champ Clark entertained at a luncheon yesterday at the Capitol for their debutante daughter, Miss Genevieve Clark. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harvey, of New York; Miss Dorothy Harvey, Miss Helen Cox, Miss Preston, Miss Madeleine Edison, Miss Imogene Thomson, Miss Jean Winter, and Mr. Bennett Clark.

Mr. Arthur Shepard has sent out invitations to the marriage of his sister, Mrs. Louise Cleveland Shepard Vail, to Mr. Charles Henry Stone, at noon, January 15, in St. Thomas' Episcopal Church.

In spite of the disagreeable weather, many Washingtonians motored out to the Chevy Chase Club last night and entertained at dinners preceding the regular Saturday night dance. One of the largest dinners was a "Dutch treat" party arranged by Miss Alya Downing. Covers were laid for thirty-two.

Others who gave dinners at the clubhouse were Mr. and Mrs. Vandergrift, Mrs. Winslow, Miss Gilmore, and Senator and Mrs. Owen.

Mrs. Catherine C. Berry and Miss Donna Berry will be at home the first and second Tuesday in January at 2107 Dumbarton avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schiffman announce the engagement of their daughter, Belle Frances, to Mr. Leo Loeb, of Annapolis, Md. At home, Sunday, January 11, from 5 to 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Charles G. Warden was hostess yesterday at one of the most charming debutante teas of the season at her home in Georgetown. The guests of honor were Miss Donna Otley Berry and Miss Katherine Page Withers, who thus made their bows to smart society at the same time.

The rooms were hung with holly and Christmas greens, which added much to the gaiety of the scene, and an orchestra played for informal dancing during the reception. Pink was the predominating color in the dining-room, and the centerpiece on the tea table was of pink sweet peas.

Mrs. Warden wore a handsome gown of lavender charmeuse, trimmed with point lace and rhinestones. Miss Berry wore a frock of shadow lace and silk and Miss Withers' gown was of cream brocade, draped with lace. They both carried bouquets.

Mrs. Berry and Mrs. Withers assisted the hostess in receiving, and Mrs. J. Graham Pearce and Miss de Wilhorst presided at the handsomely appointed tea table. Mrs. John Urquhart served punch.

Among the young debutantes of this and last season assisting in the dining-room were Misses Eloise Orme, Miss Angelica Howard, Miss Adele Waterman, Miss Dorothy Bohrer, Miss Dorothy Leitch, Miss Dorothy Leitch, Miss Elizabeth Garland, Miss Katherine Beach, Miss Hannah Matthews, Miss Sadie Read, Miss Mary Garland, Miss Esther Whiting, and Miss Mary Pearce.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rosenberg entertained at a tango tea Thursday afternoon at Rauscher's.

Mrs. Reed Smoot, wife of Senator Smoot, will not be at home this Thursday, but will receive on the following Thursdays in this month.

To Ward Off Winter Complexion Ills

(From the Queen.)

To keep the face smooth, white, and beautiful all winter, there's nothing quite so good as ordinary mercolized wax. Rough, chapped, or discolored skin, inevitable in this weather, is gently and quickly rubbed away and replaced by the new, fresher skin beneath. The face exhibits no trace of the wax, the latter being applied at bedtime and washed off mornings. Creams, powders, and rouges, on the other hand, are apt to appear conspicuous at this season, because of alternating expansion and contraction of the skin, due to changing temperatures. I advise you to try this simple treatment. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any drug store and use like cold cream. It will help any skin at once, and in a week, or so the complexion will look remarkably youthful and healthy.

Winds and flying dust often cause squinting and other contortions which make wrinkles. You can quickly get rid of every wrinkle, however, by applying a harmless face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered salolite in 1/2 pt. witch hazel.
